PARTICIPANTS TRANSPLANT LAWN

As part of their civic participation activities, the young people that belong to the We Believe In You program took on the task of transplanting grass, where they lift, move and transplant it outside the community center in Nuevo Casas Grandes. On the other hand, a ditch was dug for a faucet installation so that an irrigation system can operate to keep alive the trees that were planted months ago around the community center. These activities promote teamwork and improve interpersonal relationships between the participants.
